

LAP UP THE LUXURY AT THE SAROJIN THIS CHRISTMAS

31st October 2011 – It's going to be a "Ho Ho HOT" Christmas at The Sarojin this year! The multi award-winning resort has come up with a number of special extras to add a bit of luxury sparkle to festivities, including the chance to sing carols with local children from the Baan Tharn Namchai orphanage, indulge in a five-course gourmet feast on the eve of the big day, and be spoiled with a spectacular Seafood BBQ on a secluded stretch of white sand beach on Christmas Day.

Couples visiting the resort this December will discover that The Sarojin and Christmas both have something in common... they're both about giving. And this year will be no exception as the resort kicks off its Christmas celebrations by inviting 70 children from the local Baan Tharn Namchai orphanage to sing seasonal carols with hotel guests on the evening of Christmas Eve. Guests will be able to present each child with a special gift provided by The Sarojin and soak up the seasonal cheer from these inspiring children, many of whom were survivors of the Asian Tsunami in 2004.

This uplifting encounter will be followed by a starlit Christmas Eve dining experience at the illuminated ficus tree, overlooking the beautiful lotus pond in the grounds of the resort. The Sarojin's team of world-class chefs has created a five-course gourmet degustation menu with some traditional favourites, such as Christmas pudding with brandy custard and sherry jam, thrown in for good measure. Then, with eggnog in hand, guests are invited to engage in the Thai tradition of releasing a kom loy (spirit lantern) to carry their seasonal wishes, thoughts or prayers into the night's sky.

Christmas Day morning brings the arrival of Santa Claus who will visit each and every guest staying at The Sarojin, requesting the pleasure of their company at a mouth-watering Seafood BBQ later that evening. Live acoustic music will serenade couples as they dine in style on an 11km stretch of secluded white sand beach and, for those seeking some familiar home comforts, cold turkey will be served with eggnog – a must for many on Christmas Day!

For a Christmas holiday with a difference, The Sarojin is able to create many tailor-made packages for romantic couples enjoying the festive break. Why not treat your other half to a special Christmas present indulging in champagne and mince pies as you travel aboard the Lady Sarojin private yacht to the breathtaking Similan Islands, which are ranked amongst the top 10 dive sanctuaries in the world? Or see in Christmas Day by dining in opulence on your very own private island, surrounded by burning torches flickering in the moonlight? There are many possibilities for The Sarojin to help make this Christmas one to remember.

Further good news is that guests staying at the resort over the New Year have the option of joining The Sarojin's "Let's Dine, Let's Dance" extravaganza on New Year's Eve. The event will include cocktails in the resort's flame-lit courtyard, dinner under the poolside palms, live music and dancing on the beach, and a visual treat of fireworks and Kom Loy lanterns being released into the sky, all against the backdrop of the shimmering Andaman Sea.

Between 1st November - 26th December 2011, guests can enjoy Special 20% Savings on all room types.

A Special Festive Bonus Nights Offer is also valid from 1st-26th December 2011, allowing guests who stay five nights in any room type to receive one additional night free; alternatively a stay of 10 nights will lead to two additional nights free, and so forth.
