The Sarojin some suggestions for venturing forth what to do?

walks to regenerate your soul, bicycle paths just begging to be visited, a sweep of alabaster sand beach and crystalline ocean waters in a secluded bay beckon the area of khao Lak and phang nga surrounding The Sarojin is an area of outstanding beauty both inland and offshore. pure white beaches, cascading waterfalls, spectacular primary forest, idyllic lagoons and wildlife abound. the national parks of khao sok and khao lak are home to some of the oldest primary forest in the world. all are easily accessible golf at tap la mu or the championship golf course at thai muang, board the lady sarojin boat and cruise in luxury to snorkel, swim or scuba in the similan and Surin islands' national marine parks, explore the adventurous playgrounds of khao sok national park. or instead try deep sea or lagoon fishing, sea cave canoeing, jungle safari, white water river or bamboo rafting, mountain biking, elephant safari, jungle canoeing, bird and wild life watching, temples, shopping.....

our own excursions team and guides help ensure individual guest attention and comfort we have some suggestions, you have your imagination - what would you like to do?

jungle and cave safari manora forest park and elephant cave – full day the area of phang nga is renowned for its many dramatic limestone rock formations both inland and in phang bay manora forest park is located 50 minutes drive south east of The Sarojin in the valley between phang nga and krabi province. passing through primary rainforest this educative 1.5 hour jungle trek has several marked points of interest including a variety of small caves. the trek gives an excellent insight into the geology as well as fauna and flora of the phang nga area striking multi-tiered waterfalls in the park with pools provide well earned opportunities for swimming. this jungle trek is suitable for all normally fit adults tham phung cave, also known as elephant cave, is located in the center of phang nga town and was only discovered seven years ago. this fantastic cave is open for visitors to explore its first three sections by a combination of canoe, bamboo raft and walking it houses a huge variety of stalagmites and stalactites and provides a deeper insight into the geology of the phang nga area. exploration of the third section of this cave requires visitors to walk through water (knee height), and therefore we recommend wearing a closed heel sandal or a running shoe you don't mind getting wet
